Office Action Summary

Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rudo (US 5,176,951) in view of Silvestrini et al (US 4,610,688) or Kapadia et al (US 4,816,028), and further in view of Head (US 6,250,193) with or without Akahane et al (US 5,962,550).

Rejection is maintained for reason of record and following.

Note that Rudo teach multiple layers of thinner fabric at col. 5, lines 61-68.

Applicant asserts that the use of the triaxial materials of the secondary references in Rudo would render the Rudo invention unsatisfactory for its intended purpose, and declaration states that the present invention are substantially more rigid than the leno weave material disclosed by Rudo. But the examiner disagrees as following;

1. The instant invention does not recite any particular physical strength such as tensile strength or modulus and thus statement of rigidity has little probative value. In fact, the claim 1 recites “--- or modifying a dental structure ----” which does not require higher rigidity, and claim 13 does not recite any desired property at all. Also, Rudo clearly teaches a method of reinforcing a resin portion of a dental structure with one or more layers of a light weight fabric at col. 4, lines 21-26.

Art Unit: 1714

2. The dental structures taught at col. 7, lines 4-28 (especially 18-22) of Rudo meet the instant structures.
3. Rudo teaches various patents which are incorporated by reference. Thus, the use of the Leno weave having the triaxial configuration in Fig. 3 of one of said patent, US 4,816,028 to Kapadia et al, is a prima facie obviousness contrary to applicant's assertion.
4. The use of fabric inlays yielding a higher rigidity such as the triaxial material in Rudo when such property is needed would be obvious to one skilled in the art. One of ordinary skilled in the art utilizing a polymeric matrix resin and reinforcing fabric inlays would recognize such practice.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
